Fannin sentenced, eligible for parole

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

PAINTSVILLE — A Johnson County woman who was connected to the murder of a Johnson County couple last year was formally sentenced Friday in Johnson Circuit Court to serve three years, for which she received a 290-day jail credit and is already eligible for parole unless she is mandated to serve out the rest of her term.

Amanda Fannin entered an amended plea agreement in June to hindering prosecution. Fannin's amended plea agreement also charges her with flagrant non-support and promoting contraband and recommends she be sentenced to three years for each offense with the sentences to run concurrently for a total of three years.

Fannin is the girlfriend of William "Willie" Blanton, who was sentenced to serve two life sentences for

Ex-clinic doctor requests trial delay

by Tony Fyffe
BSN MANAGING EDITOR

PIKEVILLE — An attorney for a former Paintsville pain clinic doctor charged with federal drug offenses has asked for a delay in his scheduled August trial, indicating in court papers that an end in the case may be near.

Rano Bofill's attorney filed a motion Monday in U.S. District Court asking for a continuance of the Aug. 19 trial, saying the request is "not made solely for the purpose of delay."

The attorney, Marc S. Murphy of Louisville, also said the U.S. Attorney's Office has "agreed to join" in the motion.

"Both parties are working diligently on a non-trial disposition of this matter, and material progress is being made," the motion says.

A judge had not ruled on the motion at press time Tuesday.

Bofill's trial was originally set for May 28, but Judge Amul R. Thapar granted a defense request for a continuance, rescheduling the trial for Aug. 19 in federal court in Lexington.

Bofill was a doctor at the now-closed Care More Pain Management, which was owned by Tammy Cantrell and Shelby Lackey. All three were indicted in Sep-

CONSTRUCTION OF A major renovation project at Paintsville Elementary School will be ongoing when classes begin in August. Paintsville school superintendent Coy Samons said the $7 million, 20,000-square-foot project, which will include a new cafeteria, classroom upgrades and a new administration building, is expected to be completed in late May 2014. When school begins Aug. 21 in the Paintsville district, Head Start, kindergarten and first-grade students will be housed on the Mayo Campus of Big Sandy Community and Technical College, which is located down the street from the elementary school; second- through fifth-grade students will remain at the elementary school; and sixth-grade students will have classes in the junior high building at Paintsville High School, according to Samons. BSN photo/Tony Fyffe

When students return to the classroom in the Big Sandy region, some of them will see new faces in the principal's office.

Six new administrators will greet students at schools in Lawrence, Johnson, Floyd and Martin counties as classes begin in the coming week.

New principals include:

- Christy Moore at Lawrence County High School. Moore was an assistant principal at LCHS for two years prior to moving up to principal. Moore has been working in the Lawrence County School District for the last 14 years since graduating from Morehead State University.

- Angela Holmes at Fallsburg Elementary. Prior to accepting the FES position, Holmes served as principal of Wheelersburg Elementary School in Wheelersburg, Ohio, since 2005. She began her career as a kindergarten teacher in INEZ — A car chase that originated in Lawrence County over a stolen lawnmower wound up in Martin County, where the individuals in the car struck a police cruiser, a pickup truck and a 5-year-old boy.

Martin County Sheriff Garmon Preece said the boy is currently in a hospital in Huntington, W.Va., undergoing treatment for serious injuries suffered from being struck by the car.

"He was hurt pretty bad and had some major injuries," Preece said.

Officials are still searching for Nicholas Marcum, who was reportedly driving the vehicle at the time of the crash.

Marcum's passenger, Amanda Burchett, was transported by Net-Care Ambulance Service to Three Rivers Medical Center in Louisa for treatment of her injuries.

Lawrence County Chief Sheriff's Deputy Mark Wheeler explained that they originally received a call from a property owner who said they had seen someone on camera stealing their lawnmower.

Assault charge against CVE officer dismissed

by Lilly Adkins
ASSOCIATE EDITOR

LOUISA — An assault charge against a Commercial Vehicle Enforcement officer was dismissed last Wednesday in Lawrence District Court.

CVE officer Darvin Marsillett was charged with misdemeanor assault in connection with a Feb. 21 arrest in which the owner of three coal trucks, Bobby J. Adkins Jr., was cited for traffic violations as well as other offenses.

Marsillett filed a motion to dismiss the charge, and Floyd County Commonwealth's Attorney Brent Turner, who was appointed special prosecutor in the case, agreed with the request.

In his response to the motion, Turner said the privilege contained in KRS 503.090 (1), which states that a police officer or other person acting under official authority is privileged to use physical force upon another person if they believe it is necessary to effect the arrest and if it is made known what the purpose of the arrest is to the person being arrested, would bar prosecution of the defendant for misdemeanor assault.

Turner also said in his response that Marsillett arrested the complaining witness and an indictment was subsequently returned against him for felony assault on Marsillett.

"In returning that indictment, the Grand Jury has found probable cause to believe that the crime occurred and that Marsillett's arrest of the complaining witness was valid and lawful," Turner said in his response.

Marsillett, through his attorney, C. David Mussetter of Catlettsburg, filed the motion to dismiss July 3.

The motion said that on Feb. 21, Marsillett and other officers were acting in the course and scope of their duties with the Kentucky State Police. While they were conducting a federal safety inspection on a tractor trailer stopped on U.S. 23, they were confronted by a man later identified as Bobby J. Adkins, who claimed to be the owner of BJJR Transport Inc., of Fort Gay, W.Va., the motion said.

Adkins was irritated that the BJJR Transport truck had been stopped and the driver was being cited for numerous safety violations, the motion said, and was asked to leave the area and not interfere with the inspection by officer Jess Staggs.

Adkins turned to leave the area of the stop, but when Staggs turned his back, Adkins ignored the officer's directions and returned to the truck, the motion said.

Marsillett observed Adkins standing on the side of the stopped vehicle and directed him to step down from the side of the truck and to leave the traffic stop area or be arrested, the motion said.

Instead of leaving, Adkins became "belligerent and began cursing the officers," stating that he would not comply with their directive and leave the area, the motion said.

Based upon Adkins' actions, Marsillett placed him under arrest and put his hand on Adkins' arm to effectuate the arrest, the motion said.

Adkins abruptly turned around and began swinging at Marsillett, striking him in the shoulder, the motion said. Adkins was taken to the ground and placed in handcuffs without further incident, according to the motion.

OFFICER: Assault case dismissed in district court

Mussetter filed a motion requesting a special prosecutor and for Lawrence County Attorney Mike Hogan to be replaced due to a conflict of interest.

Hogan, who showed up at the scene of the incident, said previously that he planned to prosecute the case against Marsillett and that he didn't see a conflict of interest but agreed to willingly withdraw himself.

Hogan filed a response to the request for a special prosecutor May 21, in which he accused CVE officials of using "Gestapo-type tactics."

In his written response to the motion, Hogan said facts "concerning the county attorney's involvement in this case clearly demonstrate that there is no conflict of interest warranting recusal."

"First and foremost, the defendant's version of the facts on Feb. 21, indicate that the involvement of the undersigned (Hogan) on the day in question was after the complaining witness had been arrested and transported from the scene of the arrest," Hogan's response said.

"Therefore, it is impossible for Mr. Hogan to be a witness to the events surrounding the case charged herein. However there are multiple other allegations and innuendos strewn about in the unverified motion that attempt to present a scenario warranting appointment of a special prosecutor without one citation to legal precedent."

In the request for a special prosecutor, Mussetter said that Hogan arrived at the scene and became "very loud and irate" and that he stated he was in charge and that the officers were going to let all the stopped vehicles go and the guys who were driving them were going to drive them away and no citations would be issued. He said that if his directive wasn't followed, things were going to "get really bad for the officers and even worse for Marsillett," the motion said.

According to the motion, Hogan allegedly stated "he would see that all charges were dismissed in such a way that Marsillett would get sued."

"In an attempt to make good on his threat that things were going to get real bad for the officers, without notice to KSP, Hogan obtained an Exparte Order, without a hearing, releasing the impounded vehicles which were the subject of numerous safety and legal violations. Hogan also attempted to obtain an arrest warrant for Marsillett on Friday afternoon after hours, without fully advising the Court of all the pertinent facts surrounding the stop," the motion said. "A number of KSP, CVE Officers appeared at Adkins initial arraignment in District Court to ensure the charges were not improperly dismissed by the County Attorney's Office. Adkins was subsequently indicted for third-degree assault by a Lawrence County Grand Jury, which found there was probable cause to charge him."

The motion also noted an interview Hogan did with The Big Sandy News in which he said Adkins' wife had contacted him by cell phone seeking assistance for her husband and he said he would take care of it and that his idea of taking care of it was to get Adkins released. Hogan also said during the interview that Adkins lived in the same subdivision and that their children had attended Trinity Christian Academy together.

"Hogan's extraordinary actions and unusual conduct in the case clearly demonstrate that he is prejudiced in this matter and that he and other members of his staff are likely to be material witnesses in the proceedings," the motion requesting a special prosecutor said. "Attempting to influence the actions of law enforcement officers and making threats against them for carrying out their duties in an effort to assist a neighbor who had been cited for violation of the law is not in keeping with the duties and responsibilities of the County Attorney's Office."

Hogan argued in his response that the legal standard is that a prosecutor has the responsibility of a "minister of justice and not simply that of an advocate."

Hogan also said in his response that "Prosecutors are given broad discretion in determining what cases to charge, trial tactics, grand jury proceedings, plea negotiations and appellate review," Hogan's response said. "Indeed numerous cases involving racial profiling, abetting police brutality, corruption, political repression and subornation of perjury."

Pursuant to S.CR 3.130(3.8), Hogan said, "A prosecutor shall refrain from prosecuting a charge that the prosecutor knows is not supported by probable cause."

"This became the undersigned's job and duty on the date that he involved himself in the illegal and unwarranted impounding of commercial vehicles," Hogan said in his response. "Prior to the arrest of the complaining witness, Bobby J. Adkins Jr., he and his wife Amy arrived at the scene to present documents to the commercial vehicle enforcement officers to prove they had the necessary insurance, UCR sticker and registration. However, the officers refused the paperwork offered to them as proof. They even refused to look at it when told by the County Attorney that he could obtain a copy for them. The reasons the documents were refused can only be speculated as to why. However their Gestapo-type tactics on that day leave no doubt that their goal was to impound the vehicles in question and to cause as much financial pain as possible to Adkins, his company, family and employees."

Hogan said he views his standing up for people in this situation as simply his doing his job and that no American citizen should have their property confiscated when it is legally operating.

Hogan also said in his response that further charges against Marsillett were initiated only after an independent inquiry by his office and an interview of an eyewitness who "unequivocally stated" that Marsillett, without provocation, slammed Adkins to the ground, which was taken in conjunction with what Adkins had already stated had occurred.

Hogan added in his response that he is a neighbor and that their children go to school together, but that Louisa is a small community and if he were required to recuse himself from cases involving neighbors or individuals who have children in the same class or school, a special prosecutor would be necessary in about 75 percent of the cases in Lawrence County.

tember 2012 on federal charges of conspiring to distribute and unlawfully dispense pain pills at the clinic.

Cantrell, 40, of Oil Springs, and Lackey, 50, of Williamstown, entered guilty pleas in April in U.S. District Court at Pikeville to conspiracy to distribute and unlawfully dispense oxycodone and to maintaining drug-involved premises. They are scheduled to be sentenced Sept. 5.

Bofill was employed by Care More after Dr. Richard Albert left and opened his own business. Albert was later indicted on federal drug charges, pleaded guilty and was sentenced in June to 75 months in federal prison.

Approximately 60,000 Percocet pills were distributed by Bofill and Albert while they were employed at Care More, according to court documents.

During Albert's tenure, the Kentucky Attorney General's Office received information and complaints from local law enforcement that the clinic was "seeing large numbers of patients," and investigators from the office conducted surveillance at the facility and on Albert, the agreements say.

After Albert resigned, Cantrell and Lackey hired Bofill, who "largely continued the prescribing practices of Albert," court papers say.

pleading guilty to the murder of his parents, Larry and Sandra Blanton, and then hiding their bodies. Blanton also pleaded guilty to tampering with physical evidence and 10 counts of forged checks, attempting to fill his father's prescription at a Paintsville pharmacy and being a persistent felony offender.

Fannin originally entered a plea deal with the commonwealth's attorney office in February to provide information regarding the location of the bodies of Blanton's parents in exchange for charges being dismissed against her and to prevent the commonwealth from seeking the death penalty in William Blanton's case.

Fannin was indicted last year for promoting contraband and flagrant non-support, both charges unrelated to the case, but along with Blanton had been considered a suspect in the case involving his missing parents.

Fannin alleged in the original plea deal that she wasn't present when Larry and Sandra Blanton were killed, and that she only became aware of their murders after the fact. But information came to light later that she may have had a hand in the murder of at least Sandra Blanton, and the commonwealth's attorney office sought to have the plea deal voided.

William Blanton pleaded guilty to murdering his parents and was formally sentenced June 17 to serve two life sentences without the possibility of parole.

Johnson County Coroner J.R. Frisby said that a preliminary autopsy of Larry and Sandra Blanton showed that they had died of blunt force trauma to the head and to the trunk. The official date of their deaths was established as Sept. 7, 2012, through an investigation conducted by the Johnson County Sheriff's Office.

The couple's remains were found buried in an area by a barn on their Oil Springs property, approximately 4-4.5 feet down in the dirt and beneath a heavy pile of horse manure, according to Frisby.

Larry and Sandra Blanton went missing in September 2012.

Willie Blanton was arrested Oct. 8, 2012, after he tried to fill his father's prescription at a Paintsville pharmacy, but wasn't charged with their murder until the bodies were recovered in February.

In the plea deal, Blanton received five years for each offense, which was enhanced to 10 years because he is a persistent felony offender. The sentences will run concurrently with those for the murder charges. Blanton also received 253 days jail credit for the time he has already been incarcerated, but based upon the guilty plea, will not be eligible for parole and must serve out his entire sentence.

Family members read impact statements during Blanton's formal sentencing, during which they said they would never understand how he could have committed such "horrible acts" against his parents.

spoke with the driver and passenger," Wheeler said. "They gave a false name and when Garrett asked him to step out of the vehicle, he started the vehicle back up and took off. She (Burchett) will definitely face complicity charges."

Roberts gave chase for a time, and at one point information came over the scanner that Johnson and Martin counties were being contacted in case the couple headed in their direction.

"It was pouring the rain, and after a few minutes, Garrett called off the chase," Wheeler said. "It was a push mower, worth maybe $100. I think there was some other items, like maybe a gas can and a weedeater, but we don't know for sure until the owner comes and tells us."

The chase picked back up in Martin County after Martin County Sheriff's Deputy Wes Horn spotted a vehicle on Rt. 645 with a lawnmower sticking out the back.

"I attempted to do a traffic stop, but they fled and were doing 105-110 miles an hour," Horn said. "We originally thought it was a Sunfire, but it was an Escort, and they had just bought it. It belonged to the female passenger," Horn said. "They got to the intersection at the end of Rt. 645 and turned left, back toward Inez. They were driving very fast and were passing cars in curves and across double yellow lines. I was scared that they were going to hit someone head on and kill them."

Inez Police Chief Adam Crum was coming toward the speeding car when Marcum crashed in front of Evans Hardware, police said.

"I was coming around the curve from the other end of town in their direction, and when they rounded the curve, a truck that had been making a delivery was there and they were going really fast," Crum said. "They hit their brakes and slid through the parking lot and struck a cruiser in the parking lot as well as a truck owned by Mike Sweeney."

Crum said that at the time he couldn't tell whether the boy had been struck by the vehicle or tossed out of the way to prevent being struck. But Preece said the seriousness of the injuries discovered after he was taken to the hospital showed that he had to have been hit by the car.

"The driver, Marcum, took off and headed into the hills," Crum said.

Both Crum and Horn reviewed video collected by Evans Hardware security cameras.

"He is facing multiple felony charges in Martin County," Preece said.

Anyone with information regarding Marcum's whereabouts is asked to contact the Martin County Sheriff's Office at (606) 298-2828 or the Lawrence County Sheriff's Office at (606) 298-4368.

potential to compete as a country music recording artist in today's market.

"The music business can be heartbreaking, and you have to be ready to pull yourself up by the boot straps on a daily basis," Presley said. "Holly Thompson handled her performance mishap with great poise and professionalism. Her recovery proved to me that she not only has the talent but the resilience needed to take on Music Row. All the contestants were amazingly talented but Holly just seemed the most 'ready' for everything that the job entails."

"Road to Fame" judge Bernard Porter, president of PCG Nashville, said it was the "most difficult talent competition I've ever judged."

"The top ten were all incredibly gifted artists," he said. "With hard work and a positive attitude every one of them has a place in the music industry."

Another judge, Molly Porter of PCG Nashville, said she continues to be "amazed by the talent in Eastern Kentucky" and feels "honored to be a part of this competition and worthy cause."

"It was an extremely hard decision, but I believe Holly Thompson will represent the 'Road to Fame' very well and bring the much needed attention necessary to continue this program's success," she said.

Noting the "overwhelming songwriting talent demonstrated in this year's competition," PCG Nashville, one of the "Road to Fame" sponsors for the second consecutive year, announced the addition of several bonus prizes available to each of the top 10 finalists. Through their virtual campus, PCG Nashville will offer the 10 finalists songwriting collaborations with professional Nashville songwriters and a master class vocal training session with one of its vocal instructors.

Each finalist received a Gibson Epiphone acoustic guitar with case and the opportunity to perform with James Whited and The Road to Fame Band in a state-of-the-art venue and given valuable critiques by a judging panel of music industry professionals. In addition to the prizes each contestant received at the show, performance, education and writing opportunities will continue to be offered to the top 10 finalists.

Presley presented the "Road to Fame's" title sponsors, Jim and Linda Booth of Booth Energy, with a customized "Road to Fame" guitar autographed by country music trio Pistol Annie's, Angaleena Presley, Ashley Monroe and Miranda Lambert in thanks for their tremendous support.

"Road to Fame" is also sponsored by Gibson Foundation, Community Trust Bank, Big Sandy RECC, Fairway Outdoor Advertising, Jenny Wiley State Resort, WYMT-TV, WOWK-TV and PCG Nashville.

Eastern Kentucky schools, including Johnson County, Paintsville Independent, Pike County, Pikeville Independent, Ashland Independent and Boyd County, were each presented a $250 honorarium to support their music programs.

The remaining top 10 finalists were Cory Harris of Letcher County, Arron Haney of Johnson County, Karis Blanton of Greenup County, Tim Elkins of Johnson County and Henry Johnson of Perry County.

The event was taped in front of a live audience and can be purchased on DVD at the MAC. The event will be aired on KET-Kentucky Education Television at a later date, to be announced.

HOLLY THOMPSON OF Floyd County is the 2013 winner of the Country Music Highway "Road to Fame" competition. Thompson received a $2,500 cash prize, a demo recording session in the MAC studio and mentoring sessions with Nashville entertainment professionals offering career guidance. NOTICE TO KENTUCKY POWER COMPANY CUSTOMERS

Please Take Notice that on July 3, 2013 Kentucky Power Company (Kentucky Power) filed with the Kentucky Public Service Commission (Commission) in Case No. 2013-00144 an amended application seeking the approval of a new Biomass Energy Rider (Tariff B.E.R.). The full language of the proposed Tariff B.E.R. is shown below. If approved, the Company will use Tariff B.E.R. to recover the costs associated with the purchase of renewable energy from the ecoPower biomass energy facility to be constructed in Perry County, Kentucky. The Biomass Energy Rider would be applicable to the following tariffs: R.S., R.S.-L.M.-T.O.D., R.S.-T.O.D., Experimental R.S.-T.O.D.2, S.G.S., Experimental S.G.S.-T.O.D., M.G.S., M.G.S.-T.O.D., L.G.S., L.G.S.-T.O.D., Q.P., C.I.P.-T.O.D., C.S.-I.R.P., M.W., O.L. and S.L. The Company will first apply the Biomass Energy Rider to a customer's bill two months after the first month it purchases energy from the ecoPower biomass energy facility. The Company anticipates first purchasing energy from the biomass facility in 2017.

NEW TARIFF

TARIFF B. E. R. (Biomass Energy Rider)

APPLICABLE.

To Tariffs R.S., R.S.-L.M.-T.O.D., R.S.-T.O.D., Experimental R.S.-T.O.D.2, S.G.S., Experimental S.G.S.-T.O.D., M.G.S., M.G.S.-T.O.D., L.G.S., L.G.S.-T.O.D., Q.P., C.I.P.-T.O.D., C.S.-I.R.P., M.W., O.L. and S.L.

RATE.

- When energy is generated and sold to the Company from the ecoPower biomass facility, an additional charge equal to the product of the kWh of sales and a biomass adjustment factor (A) shall be made, where "A", calculated to the nearest 0.0001 mill per kilowatt-hour, is defined as set forth below.

In the above formulas "R" is the rate for the current calendar year approved by this commission in the REPA between ecoPower and Kentucky Power Company, "P" is the amount of kwh purchased by Kentucky Power Company in the current (m) period, and "S" is the kWh sales in the current (m) period, all defined below.

- Rate (R) shall be the dollar per MWh as defined in the REPA between ecoPower and Kentucky Power Company, including any applicable escalation factor as defined in the REPA.
- Produced energy (P) shall be the MWh produced and sold to Kentucky Power Company.
- Sales (S) shall be all kWh sold, excluding intersystem sales. Utility used energy shall not be excluded in the determination of sales (S).
- The monthly bio mass energy rider shall be filed with the Commission ten (10) days before it is scheduled to go into effect, along with all the necessary supporting data to justify the amount of the adjustment, which shall include data, and information as may be required by the Commission.
- Copies of all documents required to be filed with the Commission shall be open and made available for public inspection at the office of the Public Service Commission pursuant to the provisions of KRS61.870 to 61.884

PROPOSED RATE IMPACT

Tariff B.E.R. is a new tariff and there are no present rates. The proposed rates will be calculated on a kWh basis in accordance with Biomass Adjustment Factor described above.

If approved as filed, and if charges under Tariff B.E.R. were to be collected beginning January 1, 2014 (which they will not), the Company's proposed Tariff B.E.R. would result in a proposed annual increase in electric revenues per customer class, based on current revenues for the twelve month period ending March 31, 2013, as follows:

Customer Classification	Current Revenue	Revenue Increase with Tariff B.E.R.	Proposed Revenue with Tariff B.E.R.	Percent Change
RS	$201,020,022	$17,460,599	$218,480,621	8.69%
SGS	$16,112,073	$1,035,202	$17,147,275	6.43%

SL	$1,222,039	$62,978	$1,285,017	5.15%

The average monthly bill for each customer class to which the proposed electric rates will apply will increase, based on current revenues for the twelve month period ending March 31, 2013, approximately as follows:

Customer Classification	Average Customer Usage (kWh)	Average Customer Demand (kW)	Current Average Billing	Proposed Average Billing	Average Billing Change	Average Percent Change
RS	1,374		$119.69	$130.08	$10.40	8.69%

IDB Interns meet with Stephens

by Colby Kirk
IDB INTERN

The Inez Deposit Bank Intern Program met with Delaney Stephens on Tuesday, July 2. A native of Somerset, Mr. Stephens works at The Center for Rural Development as Community Liaison and Youth Programs coordinator. Stephens is a graduate of the University of Kentucky, where he earned a degree in Community and Leadership Development. Stephens's family has owned and operated Amon's Bakery in Somerset for over 30 years.

Mr. Stephens's presentation addressed the theme "What's Next: The Economic Potential & Future of our Region" as he explained the purpose of The Center for Rural Development, and the importance of entrepreneurship in Eastern Kentucky's future. Stephens said that Representative Hal Rogers founded The Center with the goal that no young person should have to leave eastern Kentucky to follow their dreams. Stephens's thesis could best be stated as follows, "Entrepreneurs are integral to success in the future, technology is the most important factor when it comes to development, and tourism is the greatest way to build communities." The Center offers many programs that are tailored to the youth in eastern Kentucky. Programs like the Entrepreneurial Leadership Institute (ELI) and the Rogers Scholars Program teach the importance of entrepreneurship, leadership, and technology.

Stephens is a believer in the potential of eastern Kentucky's young people. He told us, "You are the ones that can make a difference! If the best and brightest leave, where will we be in twenty years?" Mr. Stephens said that as the Intern Program examines the economic strengths and weaknesses of our county that it is vital to share this information with our local leaders and officials. If we all work together we can create a strategic plan for our county and help spur development in the future.

7 clever uses for ordinary smartphone features

by Kim Komando

Kim Komando hosts the nation's largest talk radio show about consumer electronics, computers and the Internet.

You've heard the old saying, "Familiarity breeds contempt." When it comes to technology, I'm not sure if contempt is the right word. Perhaps it's better to say, "Familiarity breeds indifference."

For example, when was the last time you thought about just how amazing your smartphone is?

Not only is it an instantaneous worldwide communication system, it's a media player, digital camera, video and audio recorder, game system, business platform and so much more. And it fits in your pocket.

If you described it to someone from 1700, they'd think it was magic. In 1900, they'd say you were mad. Even your younger self from 2000 would be amazed. Now, you carry one around like it's no big deal.

Well, it's time to bring back some of the wonder. I've rounded up seven amazing things you didn't know your smartphone could do.

1. Rewind the past
"Did I hear that right?" We've all had moments where we're sure we misheard something someone said. Or someone said something hilarious and we wish we had a recording.

Well, now you can pull audio from the past. No, I'm not saying your phone can time travel - yet.

Heard for iPhone is always recording using your smartphone's microphone. At any time, you can save audio from up to 5 minutes in the past.

Don't miss your baby's first words or the name of that important client again.

2. Help you sleep better
Many people blame technology for their lack of sleep. Staring at a screen confuses your brain about the time of day. Your phone buzzes from incoming text messages and wakes you up throughout the night.

Well, technology can be a solution as well. Give Sleep Time for iPhone and Android a shot.

You start by placing it on your mattress before you go to bed. The phone's accelerometer detects your movements during the night and figures out your sleep pattern.

The app's alarm gently wakes you up during the lightest part of your sleep cycle. You can avoid that groggy feeling that makes you want to hit the snooze button.

3. Make you aware of your surroundings

Listening to music or watching a movie on your smartphone is a great way to pass the time. It can make your morning walk or a bus ride fly by.

The downside is that many earphones block out the surrounding noise. That's great if you want to tune out the world. It's not so great if a car is honking at you or the driver announces your stop.

Awareness for Android and iPhone fixes that problem. It uses your smartphone's microphone to keep track of noise around you. Any sounds louder than regular background noise gets sent to your headphones.

You can hear a car honk, a bus stop announcement or your friend talking. And you won't miss a second of your music or video.

4. Help you measure up
As my Dad always used to say, "Measure twice, cut once." Even if you're not cutting anything, measuring can prevent costly mistakes.

But you don't have to reach for a ruler or tape measure. Android users can fire up Advanced Ruler Pro and iPhone users can grab Visual Measure.

Just take a picture of an object or room and then follow the directions. The app can figure out the dimensions for you. From a chair to a mansion, you can measure virtually anything.

iPhone users also have the amazing Acoustic Ruler Pro. This uses sound reflection to measure distances. It's similar to the way bats detect bugs and obstacles.

There are two modes. If you have two iPhones, you can measure distances up to 82 feet. With one iPhone, you can measure distances just under 4 feet.

5. Give you heart

Smartphones and tablets are on their way to becoming indispensable medical gadgets. They've already been wired with sensors to detect certain blood chemicals. MIT created an add-on, NETRA, which turns any smartphone into a portable eye tester. The list goes on.

Most of these advances are years away from being commercial or require add-ons. However, some people are doing interesting things with the smartphones they already have.

Instant Heart Rate for iPhone and Android uses the phone's camera to figure out your heart rate. It detects the light passing through your finger and how it changes as your heart beats.

You can keep a log of your heart rate to track it over time.

6. Help you prove your metal

There are plenty of valuable items that people drop every day. A simple metal detector is all you need to find them and make some extra money.

Don't have a metal detector? Don't need one. Metal detector apps for Android and iPhone have you covered.

No, I'm not joking. Smartphones contain a compass for navigation. It's not difficult to tweak it to detect nearby metal objects.

You will need to find a comfortable way to hold your phone near the ground, however. Walking around bent over just looks odd!

7. Prevent a lapse in attention

Time-lapse videos are amazing. You can watch natural phenomena unfold that would take too long with the unaided eye.

Time-lapse pros use expensive, high-tech equipment to get their shots. If you want to try your hand at it, however, it only takes a few bucks.

Your smartphone can make time-lapse movies no problem. Just grab TimeLapse for iPhone or Lapse It for Android.

You can set how frequently the camera snaps a picture. Then the app will put the images together in a movie file. You just need to tap a button.

Well, you also need to figure out a good way to keep your phone pointed where you want. There are plenty of low-cost tripod hacks people have come up with online.

If you want a premade solution, you can grab a smartphone tripod. Look at the GripTight GorillaPod from Joby ($30) or the Sony SPA-MK11 ($30).
